

person statement

I would like to think of myself as a sociable, approachable person. Someone who is confident yet humble, who has a strong sense of integrity and honesty. Having been brought up with the importance of a strong work ethic it feels natural to me to want to do my best and work hard to become a valued member of any team. To have a willingness to learn and to be taught. To be professional and organised with attention to detail and not to be afraid of taking on more responsibility if asked.
